Presented by Musician & Historian Steve Ball

March 18, 2012

2:00 PM - 4:00 PM

Campus Martius Museum

601 Second Street

Marietta, Ohio

Regular Museum Admission

Steve Ball, from Columbus Ohio, started both playing the guitar and studying the American Civil War at the age of twelve. As his knowledge grew, he developed a presentation that explains both why the tunes were written, and what was going on in the war at the time. The songs are presented in a somewhat chronological order, and Steve tells the story of each song, and keeps listeners informed of the progress of the war at the same time.
